

College of Science
Oregon State University

The Fred Horne Award
For Excellence in Teaching Science

Purpose	The purpose of the award is to recognize sustained excellence in teaching science by honoring a faculty member in the College of Science who has repeatedly demonstrated exceptional instructional qualities and has had a significant impact on students over a period of not less than five years.
Criteria	Evidence is required of exceptional and sustained instructional achievements and of high regard by students.
Nominations	Anyone can submit to the Dean of Science written nominations that clearly identify the quality and continuity of the nominee's instructional achievements, and the period over which they extend. Previous nominations will be accepted for consideration for a 3-year period, with up-to-date material added by the deadline.
Supporting Materials	Other materials required to complete a file: <ol style="list-style-type: none">1. A complete current curriculum vitae, with special attention to instructional activities and achievements.2. Two or three current letters from students and colleagues that provide evidence of the degree to which the candidate's instructional achievements over a sustained period are regarded as truly exceptional and the extent to which the candidate has had an impact on student learning.
Deadline	May 15
Selection	The College of Science Honors and Awards Committee will review the nominations and make recommendations to the Dean of Science.
Award	$1500 and a wall plaque